From the President

Dear Fellow Cardinal Alumni,

I hope you are all doing well. Hopefully you are enjoying the holiday season in the company of many family and friends. The new school has been open now for several months and the kids have settled in and are benefiting from everything it has to offer, which is enormous. This edition of the alumni magazine covers many interesting topics, including Alumni that are making a difference in our communities, several articles from Alumni members, the summary's of several successful reunions, and the ongoing collaboration of the Lincoln High School Alumni Association and Friends of Lincoln. These are two very different organizations that share the same goal of supporting Lincoln High School.

As always, I want to remind our members and readers that we are a volunteer non-profit organization that relies heavily on member's dues and donations. This magazine is expensive to publish, so any additional support you can provide is greatly needed and appreciated. In addition to financial support we are also looking for new board members for the LHSAA and/or committee contributors. If you have any interest, please contact me or any of the current board members.

Finally, I would like to update you on the status of the old Lincoln building and the new athletic field and facilities. By the time you are reading this the old school building will have been demolished and cleared away. Once it is all cleared out the new athletic field and facilities will be built in time for the 2023 fall season, a rendering of the new facilities is included in this issue. Lincoln High School's future is bright, but we cannot ignore the current challenges faced by many families in Portland. If you are wondering how you can support the students, please consider donating time or money to Friends of Lincoln. Your contributions are very much appreciated and please know that all donations go straight to the classroom and or Sports Programs. We can all make a difference! All the best. Glenn McMath, LHSAA President
Go Cards!

Glenn Doyle McMath

From the Principal

Principal Peyton Chapman

Dear LHS Alumni,

Happy Winter Solstice, Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, and good tidings to all who are celebrating holidays this season. We have been busy here at Lincoln hosting our 8th grade "Future Cardinals" for tours and an all-school Winter Sports Assembly, hosting home basketball and wrestling events, and watching World Cup soccer matches in the student commons as part of our "Global Contexts" approach to learning. The energy during lunchtime matches has been exuberant to say the least. "Go USA" and "Vamos, vamos Argentina" along with chants for a host of other teams were heard. Having large screens and new technology made the experience a true delight.

All the new spaces in our school are being used often for big events and PopCycles, the New Works Festival, Jazz Concert, and Winter Choir Concert were all well attended in our new New Nest Theater and Black Box Theater. Finally LHS student talent can be showcased with quality lighting, sound, and perhaps most important to audience members, comfortable seating. Thank you again voters and taxpayers!

We continue to welcome our beloved LHS alumni back for tours. Please let us know if you would like to come home for a visit to your new school as we are always happy to greet friends and family. Come for a game or just a visit. Views of the new Mike Walsh field progress can be seen from the second to sixth floors, and it's all looking magnificent with the dramatic Portland skyline behind the eastern end zone. We can't wait until mid-July to see Phase 2 Construction substantially completed.

Here's to a Happy New Year with good health and happiness for all Cards and Card families in 2023! We have so much to be grateful for in our urban public school community. We hope to see you soon.

Peyton Chapman

Happy holiday alums! We have had our special place in the NEW Lincoln so finally have a HOME! We are still searching for an Archivist to work 8-10 hours a week. There is an information and qualification sheet attached.

My time spent in the Archive has been amazing – we are located off the library and many students come into the area right outside to eat their lunch. A few weeks ago, the Archive door was open, and I was privy to their conversations... these students are impressive! Their conversations were about subjects that are of importance, they were polite and respectful of each other and there was not one “off color” word. Now I try to be at Lincoln during the lunch hour because it gives me great hope for our future! I needed help reaching the top of a case and asked one of the library TA's if he might assist. He came in and looked around and said “wow, what is all of this?”. I showed him yearbooks from the early 1900's, Cardinal Times from the early days and our notebooks which contain more historical collections. He was obviously impressed because he came back with two of his teammates and asked if he could show them what we have. Hopefully we can get some student volunteers involved.

Thank you to those alums who have come and toured the amazing new building. So many of you have then donated to LHSAA or our Endowment. Because of our alums we do make a difference!

9th Annual Holiday Food Drive

SPONSORED by SISTERS & BROTHERS OF COLOR & LHSAA

THERE'S A LONG TRADITION AT LINCOLN OF GIVING BACK TO THE COMMUNITY. FOR THE PAST NINE YEARS, THE LINCOLN ALUMNI FOOD DRIVE HAS BROUGHT TOGETHER STUDENTS, PARENTS, STAFF, AND ALUMNI TO HELP PORTLAND'S HUNGRY INCLUDING LINCOLN FAMILIES IN NEED DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

Please give what you can, every dollar helps. A gift of just $90 provides grocery gift cards to three families in need.

Because of the ongoing construction at Lincoln, we won't be gathering this year to assemble and deliver food boxes, but the need for food assistance is greater than ever. Our plan is to once again purchase and distribute grocery gift cards to families in need of food assistance.

We'll be joining forces with Lincoln's Brothers of Color and Sisters of Color and with food drive volunteers at other schools around the city. Please join us in this effort to fight hunger in our community and to help ensure a brighter holiday season for hundreds of our fellow citizens.

DONATE YOUR TAX-DEDUCTIBLE GIFT TODAY

All funds go directly to purchasing grocery gift cards. Donations accepted by pps.schoolpay.com - or send a check to: Lincoln Alumni Food Drive, 1750 SW Salmon Street, Portland, OR 97205.

THE CLASS OF 1962 60-YEAR REUNION

The Class of 1962 60-Year Reunion was held on October 7th and 8th, 2022, and it consisted of three terrific events. On the afternoon of October 7th, the Reunion began with a private tour of the new Lincoln High School. The tour was facilitated by Principal Peyton Chapman and guided by Vice Principal Chris Brida, who did an exceptional job showing us the new building and explaining in great detail all of its state-of-the-art features. The tour of the new building was very special, and it was clearly one of the highlights of the Reunion.

Immediately following the tour, there was a No-Host Happy Hour at the Goose Hollow Inn (which was established by Portland Mayor, Bud Clark, LHS Class of 1949). Because of the nice weather, we were able to eat, drink, and socialize in an outside reserved area. Rachel Clark, a Lincoln graduate who manages the Goose Hollow Inn, was very helpful in facilitating our arrangements. The informal setting of the Happy Hour allowed everyone to relax and enjoy each other.

More than 50 people attended the "Main Event" of the Reunion which was held in the afternoon on October 8th at the Produce Row Cafe. As a health and safety precaution, this event took place on a covered patio that was reserved for the Reunion. The food, drink, and service were very good, and the setting was ideal. One of the highlights of the Main Event was a slideshow that included photos from the Class of 1962's Senior Day Assembly, photos from the 40th Reunion, and a group photo of classmates who attended the 50th Reunion.

Many classmates were unable to attend the Reunion, and their presence was missed. However, photos that were taken by classmates who attended the Reunion will be posted on the Class of 1962 Reunion web page that is attached to the LHSAA website whose address is lincolnalum.org. At the conclusion of the Reunion, there were surplus funds in the amount of $1,289.47, one-half of which will be donated to the LHSAA and one-half of which will be donated to the Friends of Lincoln.

A big thanks to the members of the Reunion Committee: Cam Birnie; Rick Brill; Mark Bunton; Barbara Durkheimer; Dexter Fairbank; Bob Glasgow; Susan Brandon Hebert; Judy Preble Murphy; and Katy White Qualman; and to the LHSAA Website and Registration

On September 17th, after two years of planning, the class of 1971 and their guests were welcomed by The Bloozers, which included Dan Heims on Harmonica and Hans Ettlin on guitar, to celebrate their 51st reunion. Held at The Eleanor, approximately 100 attended and the most often heard remark was they didn't have enough time to talk to everyone they wanted to. Smiles and hugs started memory sharing and updates followed by hors d'oeuvres and desserts, pictures and a no host dinner at The Brix afterward.

Thanks to the planning committee of Julie Aldag Crawford, who was stellar at working with the LHSAA, handling the finances, making desserts and arranging the raffle; David Chown for everything Eleanor including all accoutrements - not enough can be said about David's gracious donation to this reunion; David Dunne, who asked the golfers to help with clean up (and they did not disappoint!); Hans Ettlin, who designed the announcement, assembled the memory jolting playlist and took the photos; Lois Hart Scales, who along with Kathryn Harmon Schaefer, Amy Rein Worth, and Patsy Youngman Smith made sure everyone signed in and received their name tags; Dan Heims who did the floral arrangements, kept us laughing with memories and puns as well as arranging The Bloozers entertainment; Cameron Hyde, who came to all of our rescue; Alan Lane, who was our sleuth who found addresses, called people and provided us with a list of alums to contact (Alan could not attend the reunion as he started teaching again at U of Alabama); Mary McFarland, who organized the catering and tabling and gave up her knee surgery to move and help at the reunion; and last but not least, Mary Winters Halpert, who created the memorial board and display which was very much appreciated. And of course, Emily and Dana of LHSAA, who came through for us with flying colors even with all the reunions they had to handle during the summer. This was such a great committee, and they made my job as coordinator so easy because of their varied talents and willingness.

One of the best parts of the reunion is being a part of the committee. It is an insight into what we all shared, the time we experienced and the lives that we created. I hope that you will consider joining us in four years as we do this all over again! Ten years is just too long between seeing everyone - so stay in touch!

THE CLASS OF 1972 50-YEAR REUNION

October 22nd & 23rd, 2022

— by the Class of 1972 Reunion Committee: Kathy Grewe, Lori Camp Stromquist, Tricia Wilhelm Murphy, Patti Lolich Beyer, Elisa Rausch Leverton and Anne Phipps

The Class of 1972 celebrated its 50-Year Reunion with three events the weekend of October 22nd and 23rd. The happy hum of reconnection flowed as we reflected on our shared past and made new memories. About 80 classmates and guests started the weekend Saturday morning with a tour of the amazing new LHS building. Thank you to Principal Peyton Chapman and Vice Principal Chris Brida for coordinating and guiding the fun and informative tour.

That evening about 100 of us gathered at Portland City Grill atop the US Bank Tower for the main event. With its spectacular 270-degree view of Portland, we could see the new LHS building to the southwest before dark. Later, we grazed on delicious heavy hors d'oeuvres and decadent desserts against the backdrop of the sparkling city lights. Thank you to our MC, Peter Jacobsen, for adding more fun and laughter to the evening.

Sunday afternoon some 60 of us reconvened at Lucky Labrador in NW Portland for a farewell pizza party. Thank you to Linda Linde Johnson and her husband Steve for the exquisite homemade cookies and cupcakes. Thank you to Patty Rueter and the Class of 1971 for loaning us the Cardinal red pennants used for decorations.

During the weekend we were honored to host several members of our high school administration and faculty: Principal Mike Rumpakis, his wife Louise, and teachers Dave Bailey, Ron Hudson and Nancy Newlean. Thank you so much for coming. We so enjoyed reconnecting with you.

Thank you to all the classmates who attended the weekend. Thank you to our class royalty: Rose Festival princess Michele Mayer, who came from Arizona, and May Fete Queen Anne-Marie Joris, who had been our exchange student from Belgium and traveled from there for our reunion.

We missed all of you who couldn't attend and fondly remembered those who have passed away far too young.

We thank everyone who shared photos from the events including Lawrence Shlim, Barbara Affleck Cassera, Tony Cassera and Terry Ricketts Burkett.

Special thanks to Dana Cress and Emily Pinkerton at the LHSAA for their considerable help with our reunion page and registration.

Our reunion committee planned the whole weekend by email over ten months with over 6500 group emails, an impressive average of 650 per month - and had a blast putting it all together. We look forward to our next reunion.

LHS Library Turkey Fundraiser

When Lori Lieberman, LHS's extraordinary librarian was asked where this idea came from she responded "I saw an image of a book turkey online somewhere and I thought "I can do that!" We are constantly weeding books out of the library since it's a living library and not a museum. We do put old books out as giveaways but there are always lots of books left over that no one wants and we thought that this could be a fun idea that is both crafty and green! We've got the raw material and we have the free labor -- my library TA's. Most of my students really like the crafting of the book turkeys as it involves box cutters and hot glue guns so they think it's a bit dangerous. Some of my students have even commented that the folding of the pages is really calming and meditative. We love the financial benefit since it's great to have the funds to purchase library TA gifts, romance book club books, and other items which we would have to pay for out of pocket. Last year, we made and sold about 16 birds. This year, it looks like we will sell over 40 book turkeys!"

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

2007 graduate Connor Kavanaugh took Lincoln on a magical ride to the 2005 Oregon football championship game

“The season seems long when you are in it, but life goes quick. It’s taught me to maximize and cherish every opportunity that comes along.”

Former Lincoln quarterback Connor Kavanaugh knows a little something about rolling up big numbers, whether that is on the football field or in an investor’s bank account.

Kavanaugh ranks in the top-10 all-time among Oregon big-school quarterbacks with 6,821 career passing yards, and as a senior he beat Benson with seven touchdown passes in a single night. He is quick to credit a talented receiving corps that included Elvis Akpla, an all-Big Sky performer at Montana State, and Jordan Polk, a starter at the University of Washington.

“It was all about throwing the ball on time and letting our receivers make good things happen,” Kavanaugh said. “We had really good wide receivers, and our coach (Chad Carlson) was doing things on the offensive side that people thought were a little bit funky at the time, but now you see it everywhere.”

Kavanaugh stamped his time at Lincoln during his junior year (2005) with an undefeated regular season and a surprise run through the playoffs.

“It was exciting to see the way the city got behind us,” Kavanaugh said. “We had thousands, and thousands of people turn out when we played Grant for the city championship.”

The journey appeared to be in jeopardy during that year’s semifinals — a soggy game on the turf at then-PGE Park just a couple of blocks from the Lincoln campus.

“It was downpouring the entire game with puddles all over the field,” Kavanaugh said. “Cold weather and wet hands are not a good combination for a quarterback, and it showed in the score.”

Each team would make only one trip over the goal line that day, but a 50-yard Kavanaugh-to-Akpla bomb in the third quarter would prove to be the decisive points in Lincoln’s 7-6 win over Lake Oswego. “I dropped back and threw it as far as I could throw it,” Kavanaugh said.

The next week, the Cardinals were on the verge of completing their fairy-tale season, leading Jesuit 10-7 in the championship game only to have a blocked punt set up the Crusaders for the winning score in the final minutes.

But Lincoln wasn’t going to go down quietly. The Cardinals picked up a couple of first downs and the clock dipped under a minute to play.

Kavanaugh remembers his final throw that season as if it happened yesterday.

“We are down to 50 seconds left, and it’s fourth-and-long from our own 30, we send Jordan on a go route, and the defensive back fell down,” he said. “I launched the ball, and it went just off Jordan’s fingertips. If we connect on that, there is no one in the state who was going to catch him.”

Jesuit won the title with a 14-10 victory. That Lincoln squad remains the most recent Portland Public School to play for the title.

“People were picking us to be second or third in the PIL and we went all the way to the state title game — experiences like that bring guys together,” Kavanaugh said. “High school football means a lot to me — some of my closest friends have come from football and all of those summers spent throwing a ball around.”

In 2020, Kavanaugh and about 40 other Cardinal’s football alums showed up for Lincoln’s final home game before the city campus underwent a reconstruction.

“There is something very sentimental about high school football. I cherished every moment, and I still wish I could go back and do it again,” Kavanaugh said. “The season seems long when you are in it, but life goes quick. It’s taught me to maximize and cherish every opportunity that comes along.”

Kavanaugh went on to play at Portland State University, guiding the Vikings to a 7-4 record his final season, surpassing 1,000 yards rushing and 1,500 yards passing as the starting quarterback.

“College was a different level of work — it taught me tenacity,” Kavanaugh said. “Always be the first one into the film room and the last one out and things will work out. I take that into life now.”

Kavanaugh works in the financial world, starting up Palladio Consulting, which guides families affected by special needs.

“There was this huge need that nobody was addressing. It’s a vastly underserved community, and I heard so many stories and I wanted to do better for them,” he said. “We deal with all of the nuances that go into that type of planning, whether that involves medical expenses or trust funds for the future.”

Kavanaugh named his business after 16th-century Italian architect Andrea Palladio, who was renowned for bringing elegance to overlooked buildings. His company has worked with more than 4,000 families across 12 states.

He is celebrating eight years of marriage to Lexi (Bishop), a former basketball player at Portland State. They have a 3-year-old daughter Dolly, a 1-year-old son Palmer and another child expected this fall.

They reside in Bend and enjoy an active outdoor lifestyle that includes boating, bike rides and plenty of golf.

CLASSROOMS A VIEW INSIDE

The Maker-Hood

Just past the Lincoln High School library, it is not uncommon to hear the sounds of students using 3D Printers, files, chop saws, or the silence of loom weaving. Welcome to the Lincoln High School Maker-Hood, a wing of the building dedicated to student-creators.

Maker Space

The Maker Space at Lincoln High School serves as more of a library than a classroom. Inside, students have access to a wide range of tools, including 3D printers, laser cutters and engravers, a CNC machine, a vacuformer, sewing machines, and a variety of wood-working tools. Not a dedicated classroom space, the Maker Space exists for classes to come build projects, grade-levels to build parade floats, or any student with free time in their schedule to come create. The Maker Space is led by Joseph Hewitt, an incredible addition to the Lincoln staff. Joseph comes from industry, having worked for Fortune 500 companies, on feature-length films and on art installations around the world. Joseph has partnered with our computer science classes, supported our product design classes to add LED lights to their lantern project, and supported each grade level in this year's class competition to build parade floats for our homecoming assembly. Joseph's favorite projects so far include working with a student to make an ion thruster (a form of electric propulsion used in spacecraft) and working with a student to build a clock.

Interior Design

The Interior Design class is the vision of Billy Rueck, another new addition to the Lincoln High School staff. Billy comes to Lincoln with a BFA in Furniture Design from the Rhode Island School of Design and a Masters in Fine Arts from the Pacific Northwest College of Art. After years working as a fabricator and project manager producing interior designs and retail experiences for some of the world's leading brands including: Nike, Adidas, Marriott, Facebook, Google, Slack, The Gap, and The Golden State Warriors, as well as on a local scale, designing and building several of Portland's best restaurants, Billy now skillfully leads our brand new Interior Design class.

CLASSROOMS A VIEW INSIDE

Here, you can find a wide range of dust producing tools, including chop saws, band saws, and a drill press. Students are working at butcher-block topped tables, building shelters and frames for a cyanotype (blueprint) as their first project. A stack of lumber fills one side of the room, with students having access to the materials they will need in order to complete their current project of building a plant stand. Students use their vice grips at each table to hold projects in place while they sand and file rough edges. A sliding whiteboard at the front reveals projects in progress and in the hallway outside, you can find framed blueprints that the students created from start to finish.

Scene Shop

Across the hall from the maker space is Lincoln's scene shop. This space, with immediate access to our Theater and Black Box Theater, is where set design happens for the various Lincoln productions. The room is equipped with a number of woodworking tools, including a table saw and hand tools, that are used in developing sets. Students have built replicas of the various sets that they will later build full scale models of for our spring production of Heathers: The Musical.

Product Design

The final space in the maker-hood hallway is our Product Design room. Teacher Addy Kessler is the 2019 Oregon Art Educator of the Year, and her classroom is the prime example why. The setup of the room is identical to the Interior Design room, with sliding whiteboards and shelves strewn with projects. Students are currently working on a weaving project, but other classes are creating jewelry and beginning sewing as well. Shelves are filled with every art supply imaginable so students can create.

As Addy said in 2019, her goal is to show students the processes and materials used to create functional pieces that also are visually pleasing. The products her students learn to create include clothing, apparel, lighting, interior designs, shoes, retail displays and architecture, all of which have potential as future careers. Paper lanterns fill the shelves after a collaborative project with our maker space. Students have also created stained glass projects. The room (like all of the rooms in the hallway) are filled with light coming from 18th Street. Passing by MAX trains make for an active space where students can draw inspiration in so many ways. ■

The LHSAA Endowment Fund

Ho Ho Ho!! The gift-giving season came early for the Lincoln High School Alumni Association (LHSAA). Well, early for future scholarship winners more specifically. In a grand holiday gesture, the Class of 1972 had some extra funds after their 50th class reunion and recently decided to donate nearly $1,000 to the endowment fund for future scholarships.

What a welcome treat indeed! Not to be outdone, the Class of 1962 also donated nearly $700 while the Class of 1970 stepped up huge with a donation of almost $1,500!! Thank you for your generosity!

Each year, the Endowment Committee gives over $17,000 across eight different scholarships to graduating Lincoln High School seniors for their educational use after leaving our halls.

We would encourage all of you to consider donating something – really, anything – to the LHSAA endowment fund. The easiest way to donate is to go to <https://www.lincolnalum.org/page-19109>
